Subject: Academic Alert for Jane Student in Microbiology

When you send an alert to a student, the system will generate a standardized email directly to the student from your email address.

Dear Jane,

Your name (as it appears in SIS), the student's name, and the name of the course are auto-populated in the email.

Your instructor, Stephanie Bauschard, raised an academic alert concerning low assignment, quiz, and/or test scores in Introduction to Microbiology. Please contact your instructor as soon as possible to discuss your performance. This alert has also been shared with your academic advisor.

Instructor comments:

Your personalized comments to the student(s) will be shown in the 'Instructor comments' section of the email. You can add comments in a survey or when using the 'Raise Flag' function.

*Jane,
Out of the last 5 assignments you have only submitted 2. For those two assignments you received a 65% and a 69%. Please see me so we can discuss why you may be having trouble with the work. I look forward to talking to you.
Prof. Bauschard*

Graded components of the course help measure your progress in learning the course content and are an important component of your course grade.

We recommend you utilize the following RIT resources:

- Primary Academic Advisor and/or NTID Counselor/Advisor – contact information can be found in your SIS Student Center
- Academic support resources for:
 - RIT students - Academic Support Center www.rit.edu/asc
 - NTID supported students – NTID Learning Consortium www.ntid.rit.edu/nlc/

The academic alert system is made available to students, advisors and instructors through the division of Academic Affairs. It is designed to help you succeed at RIT by connecting you with support and resources. If you have questions about the Starfish system, please contact us at starfish@rit.edu
