

Home

What is the RIT Wiki?

The RIT Wiki is a collection of Confluence wiki spaces built and maintained by RIT faculty and staff, and supported by the Teaching & Learning Studio in the Innovative Learning Institute.

For information on teaching and learning with a wiki, please see the related Teaching Element on Wikis.

Vendor Documentation

The RIT Wiki was updated January, 2018 to version 6.5.2

The primary documentation for the wiki is provided by the wiki vendor.

- Confluence Wiki 6.5 Documentation

Please ensure you are reviewing the documentation for the version number noted above. The vendor indicates the version at the top of each page while viewing.

The vendor documentation may list features or settings not available at RIT. If you have any questions please contact support for clarification.

How Do I Use This Resource?

This space is home to resources available for the RIT Wiki - including documentation on how to get started with your wiki space, best practices, wiki Frequently Asked Questions, and more. To use this space, click on one of the links in the table of contents navigation to the left.

Support
Academic Technology Support Innovative Learning Institute Phone: 585-475-2551 Email: tlsupport@rit.edu Hours of Operation and Instant Messenger contact: http://www.rit.edu/tls/contact/